

The Alaska Railroad, in cooperation with the Transportation Security Administration, has created TrackWatch, a safety and security program. We want our railroad to be one of the nation's safest. We've created this information card so that you, along with our employees and neighbors, can be involved in this safety and security partnership.

Passengers contribute to the security equation by providing thousands of extra eyes and ears capable of identifying possible dangerous situations and being a first line of defense against a potential natural or man-made disaster. Won't you be a part of the TrackWatch team?

If you are traveling on the Alaska Railroad, be informed and have a railroad plan of action:

- Familiarize yourself with depot entrances and exits.
 - Remain calm and listen for depot or train announcements.
 - Follow Alaska Railroad employee instructions in a speedy but orderly fashion.
 - Do not block train doors.
 - Assist fellow passengers and follow the Golden Rule: Watch out for the safety of others just as you would have them watch out for your safety.
 - Be on the alert.

If you spot any suspicious individuals engaged in questionable activity, look for the following:

- Visible signs of nervousness
- Excessive sweating
- Sprayer bottles or aerosol canisters
- Inappropriate clothing that is excessively baggy or too heavy in warm weather

If you spot an unattended package, look for the following:

- Placement in an out-of-the-way location
- Individuals in the act of abandoning the package and hastily departing the area
- Unusual attached batteries, wires, tanks, bottles or bags that might contain chemicals
- An attached message
- A suspicious cloud, mist, gas, vapor, odor or seeping fluid
- Nearby individuals showing signs of illness or distress

Do not use a cellular phone until you are a safe distance (50 feet) away from the suspicious item.

Do not confront suspicious individuals.
Contact a railroad employee immediately.
