B. Complaint Procedures - In compliance with 49 CFR Section 21.9(b), ARRC has developed procedures for investigating and tracking Title VI complaints filed against it:

1. Complaint to ARRC

a. Filing. Any person who believes that he or she has been subjected to discrimination on the basis of race, color, or national origin in the provision of ARRC services, programs, or activities may file a complaint with the ARRC Legal Department in person at 327 West Ship Creek Avenue, Anchorage, Alaska, by mail at P.O. Box 107500, Anchorage, Alaska 99510-7500, or by email at sellerswarehamt@akrr.com. A copy of the ARRC's Title VI Complaint Form is attached as Appendix A.

b. Time of Filing. The complaint must be in writing and filed within 180 calendar days of the date of the alleged discriminatory act.

c. Contents of Complaint. The complaint must state, at a minimum:

- (i) the details of each and every alleged discriminatory act;

d. Investigation and Resolution. The complaint will be investigated according to the procedures set forth in ARRC Policy 62-1, "Anti-Discrimination and Harassment," (except that the investigation shall be under the purview of the ARRC Legal Department rather than the Director, Labor Relations). Before a decision is issued, every effort to achieve a mutually satisfactory resolution to the complaint will be made. Complaints shall be tracked according to the normal procedures of the ARRC Legal Department for tracking all legal matters. A copy of ARRC Policy 62-1, "Anti-Discrimination and Harassment" is attached as Appendix B.

- e. Appeal. If the complainant is not satisfied with the decision on the complaint, the complainant may appeal to the ARRC President and CEO within fifteen (15) calendar days of the issuance of the decision. The President and CEO will review the complaint and the results of the investigation and issue a decision within thirty (30) calendar days of the date on which the appeal was filed. The decision of the President and CEO shall be final.

2. Complaint to DOT

- a. Any person who believes that he or she, individually or as a member of a specific class of persons, has been subjected to discrimination on the basis of race, color, or national origin in the provision of passenger services by the ARRC may file a written complaint with the FTA or with DOT. A complaint must be filed within 180 calendar days of the date of the alleged discriminatory event.
- b. The complaint will be processed in accordance with the complaint procedures of the FTA or the DOT, depending upon where the complaint is filed.

C. Recording Title VI Activities - In compliance with 49 CFR Section 21.9(b), ARRC will prepare and maintain a list of any active investigations (conducted by entities other than the FTA), lawsuits, or complaints naming ARRC that allege discrimination on the basis of race, color, or national origin. This list shall include:

- 1. Date the investigation, lawsuit, or complaint was filed;
- 2. Summary of the allegation(s);

D. Providing Meaningful Access for Limited English Proficient (LEP) Persons - The ARRC will take steps to ensure meaningful access to the benefits, services, information, and other important portions of its programs and activities for LEP individuals. ARRC will assist LEP persons to participate in the transportation planning process and programs. ARRC staff will make every effort to provide translators and document translation, where feasible, upon request. A copy of the ARRC LEP Plan is attached as Appendix C.

E. Notifying Beneficiaries of Protection under Title VI - In compliance with 49 CFR Section 21.9(d), ARRC will provide information to the public regarding its Title VI obligations and apprise members of the public of the protections against discrimination afforded them by Title VI. The ARRC's notice will include:

1. A statement that the ARRC operates programs without regard to race, color, and national origin;
2. A description of the procedures that members of the public should follow in order to request additional information on the ARRC's nondiscrimination obligations;

2. A copy of ARRC's LEP Plan (Appendix C);
3. A copy of ARRC's procedures for tracking and investigating Title VI complaints (Appendix B);
4. A list of Title VI investigations, complaints, or lawsuits that are currently active or have occurred in the past three (3) years (Appendix F);
5. A copy of ARRC's notice to the public that it complies with Title VI and instructions to the public on how to file a discrimination complaint (Appendix D).

H. Promoting Inclusive Public Participation - ARRC will seek out and consider the viewpoints of minority, low-income, and LEP populations in the course of conducting public outreach and involvement activities. In doing so, ARRC will offer early and continuous opportunities for the public to be involved in the identification of social, economic, and environmental impacts of proposed ARRC decisions. In addition to following its LEP Plan, ARRC will endeavor to:

1. Coordinate with individuals, institutions, or organizations and implement community-based public involvement strategies to reach out to members in the affected minority and/or low-income communities;
2. Provide opportunities for public participation through means other than written communication, such as personal interviews or use of audio or video recording devices to capture oral comments;
3. Use locations, facilities, and meeting times that are convenient and accessible to low-income and minority communities; and
4. Use different meeting sizes or formats, or varying the type and number of news media used to announce public participation opportunities, so that communications are tailored to the particular community or population.

A copy of ARRC's Public Involvement Plan is attached as Appendix E, along with a summary of the ARRC's public involvement activities during 2022-2024.

- J. Providing Assistance to and Monitoring Subrecipients - The ARRC has no subrecipients.
- K. Determination of Site or Location of Facilities - In determining the site or location of facilities, ARRC does not make selections with the purpose or effect of excluding persons from, denying them the benefits of, or subjecting them to discrimination on the grounds of race, color, or national origin.
1. The ARRC will conduct a Title VI equity analysis during the planning stage with regard to where a project is located or sited to ensure the location is selected without regard to race, color, or national origin. The analysis will be conducted in accordance with 49 CFR Part 21 and the requirements of FTA Circular 4702.1B.
 2. If ARRC determines that the location of the project will result in a disparate impact on the basis of race, color, or national origin, ARRC will only locate the project in that location if there is a substantial legitimate justification for locating the project there, and if there are no alternative locations that would have a less disparate impact on the basis of race, color, and national origin.

IV. Program Specific Requirements for Recipients Serving Large Urbanized Areas

The ARRC is located in an Urbanized Area of 200,000 or more, but is not among the FTA Transit Providers in Urbanized Areas of 200,000 or more that operate 50 or more fixed route vehicles in peak service,¹ nor has it been placed in that category at the discretion of the Director of Civil Rights. Accordingly, the only further requirement placed upon the ARRC by FTA Circular 4702.1B is that of setting system-wide standards and policies.

A. Setting System-Wide Service Standards

In compliance with 49 CFR Section 21.5(b)(2) and (7) and Appendix C to 49 CFR part 21, the ARRC has adopted quantitative system-wide service standards using the following indicators:

1. Vehicle load - the ratio of passengers per vehicle or the ratio of passengers to the number of seats on a vehicle during a vehicle's maximum load point.

The ARRC has the advantage of knowing in advance the number of passengers it will be serving on any given day. All riders have seats and there is never an issue of overcrowding or standing in the aisles. If bookings exceed expectations, extra passenger cars are added to the standard consists.

2. Vehicle headway - the time interval between two vehicles traveling in the same direction on the same route.

On a daily basis from mid-May through mid-September:

- a. A southbound passenger train (the "Coastal Classic") leaves Anchorage at 6:45 a.m., stops at Girdwood, Alaska at 8:05 a.m., and arrives in Seward, Alaska at 11:20 a.m. A northbound train departs Seward at 6:00 p.m., stops at Girdwood at 8:50 p.m., and arrives in Anchorage at 10:15 p.m.
- b. A southbound passenger train (the "Glacier Discovery") leaves Anchorage at 9:45 a.m. and arrives in Whittier, Alaska at 12:30 p.m. A northbound train leaves Whittier at 6:45 p.m. and arrives in Anchorage at 9:15 p.m.
- c. ARRC offers the Spencer Whistle Stop service, a partnership between ARRC and the U.S. Forest Service, as part of the Glacier Discovery Train service. The train leaves Whittier at 12:45 p.m. via the DMU² and arrives in Portage at 1:15 p.m., leaves Portage at 1:25

¹ The List of Recipients in UZAs of 200,000 with 50 or more Vehicles in Fixed Route Peak Service may be found at: <https://www.transit.dot.gov/regulations-and-guidance/civil-rights-ada/fixed-route-peak-service-list>

p.m. and arrives at the Spencer Whistle Stop at 1:45 p.m., leaves Spencer Whistle Stop at 1:55 p.m. and arrives at Grandview at 3:20 p.m. The train leaves Grandview at 3:30 p.m., arrives at Spencer Whistle Stop at 4:30 p.m., leaves Spencer Whistle Stop at 4:40 p.m., arrives at Portage at 5:15 p.m., arrives at Whittier at 5:30 p.m., leaves Whittier at 6:45 p.m., arrives in Girdwood at 7:35 p.m., and arrives in Anchorage at 9:15 p.m.

- d. A northbound passenger train (the “Denali Star”) leaves Anchorage at 8:20 a.m. and arrives in Fairbanks at 8:00 p.m. This train stops at Wasilla at 9:35 a.m., Talkeetna at 11:05 a.m., and Denali National Park at 3:40 p.m. before arriving in Fairbanks, Alaska at 8:00 p.m. A southbound Denali Star leaves Fairbanks at 8:15 a.m. daily, stopping at Denali National Park at 12:10 p.m., Talkeetna at 4:40 p.m. and Wasilla at 6:05 p.m., before arriving at Anchorage at 8:00 p.m.
- e. A northbound passenger train (the “Hurricane Turn”) leaves Talkeetna, Alaska at 12:45 p.m. and travels north to Hurricane, Alaska (arriving 3:00 p.m.), providing a flag stop service along the 55-mile route. The schedule enroute depends upon the number of stops requested along the route and the amount of time each stop takes for boarding or disembarking and baggage service. The northbound Hurricane Turn operates approximately 1½ hours behind the northbound Denali Star. The southbound Hurricane Turn leaves Hurricane, Alaska, and travels south to Talkeetna (arriving 5:50 p.m.), providing the same flag stop service along the 55-mile route. The southbound schedule likewise depends upon the number of stops requested along the route and the amount of time needed at each stop for boarding or disembarking and baggage service. The southbound Hurricane Turn operates approximately one hour behind the southbound Denali Star.

From approximately mid-September through mid-May of each year:

- a. On the first Thursday of each month, a passenger train (the “Hurricane Turn”) leaves Anchorage, Alaska at 8:30 a.m., arrives in Wasilla at 10:05 a.m., leaves Talkeetna at 11:35 a.m. and then travels approximately 55 miles north, providing flag-stop service from Talkeetna to Hurricane, located approximately 66 miles south of Denali National Park. A southbound service departs Hurricane upon arrival of the northbound train, returning to Talkeetna, Wasilla and Anchorage on the same Thursday.
- b. A north and southbound service (the “Aurora”) operates between Anchorage and Fairbanks north on Saturdays and south on Sundays. These trains are the only passenger traffic on the ARRC system on Saturdays and Sundays between mid-September and mid-May. Additionally, ARRC operates weekday Aurora service on select dates during the winter season.

3. On-time performance - a measure of runs completed as scheduled, using the ARRC's definition of "on time" and "acceptable level of performance." See Appendix G.
4. Service availability - a general measure of the distribution of routes within the ARRC's service area. The ARRC operates on a fixed route system and therefore does not vary its physical routes within its service areas. Stops within the fixed route system are distributed according to population density and demands of the ridership.

B. Setting System-wide Service Policies. In compliance with 49 CFR Section 21.5(b)(2) and (b)(7), and Appendix C to 49 CFR Part 21, the ARRC has adopted system-wide service policies to guard against service design and operational policies that have a disparate impact. ARRC uses the following indicators:

1. Distribution of Transit Amenities - items of comfort and convenience available to the general riding public.

ARRC's Coastal Classic, Denali Star, and Glacier Discovery Trains all provide the same on-board service, including dining cars, restrooms and washbasins, potable water, tour guides, baggage service, no-smoking cars, and wheelchair accessibility.

On the Coastal Classic and the Denali Star routes, the ARRC offers Goldstar service in addition to its regular Adventure Class service. In addition to all amenities cited above, Goldstar service includes confirmed seating in the upper seats of the car, inclusive meals, and access to an outdoor viewing platform. Goldstar service is offered to the public at an additional cost over Adventure Class.

A review of other transit amenities mentioned in FTA Circular 4702.1B reveals:

- The ARRC has seating at all stop locations;
- The ARRC has shelters at all stop locations;
- The ARRC has schedules and brochures at all major depots;
- The ARRC has maps and schedules aboard all trains;
- The ARRC has waste receptacles at all but two conditional stops.³

2. Vehicle assignment -- the process by which transit vehicles are placed into service in depots and routes throughout ARRC's system.

³ This discussion does not include the ARRC's flag stop service, the Hurricane Turn.

ARRC bases its assignment of vehicles solely upon passenger demand and the specific needs of the service offering. Assignment is not based upon the race, color, or national origin of the passengers using the service, nor upon the ethnic makeup of the communities served. On each passenger train, a minimum of one car is ADA-accessible. ARRC's standard vehicle assignments for each train are set forth in Appendix H.

V. Board Approval

The ARRC Board of Directors approved the ARRC Title VI Program (Fiscal Years 2025-2027) at a meeting on September 27, 2024. A copy of the Board's approval resolution is attached as Appendix I.

It is the policy of the ARRC to ensure equal employment opportunity without discrimination or harassment on the basis of race, color, religion, gender, age, disability, genetic information, national origin, marital status, change in marital status, pregnancy or parenthood when the reasonable demands of the position do not require distinction on the basis of age, physical or mental disability, sex, marital status, change in marital status, pregnancy, or parenthood. Through enforcement of this policy and by education of employees, the ARRC will seek to prevent, correct and appropriately address behavior that violates this policy.

The ARRC expects all employees to support this policy and to comply with all applicable laws prohibiting discrimination, harassment, and retaliation in employment

No adverse employment action will be taken against any individual for exercising his or her rights under applicable law, making a good faith complaint, or assisting in an investigation under this policy. Retaliation for any such protected activity is strictly prohibited, is unlawful, and will be dealt with immediately.

II. PURPOSE:

This policy defines prohibited discrimination and harassment and outlines responsibilities for compliance. This policy clarifies procedures available to ARRC employees and applicants who believe that they have been discriminated against or denied equal employment opportunity in any aspect of employment because of race, color, religion, gender, age, disability, genetic information, national origin, marital status, change in marital status, pregnancy or parenthood, when the reasonable demands of the position do not require distinction on the basis of age, physical or mental disability, sex, marital status, change in marital status, pregnancy, or parenthood. These factors or characteristics are referred to as "protected class status."

against because he or she has a known association or relationship with a disabled individual is also protected under the law.

E. Disparate Treatment – The act of treating an employee or applicant for employment differently based up the individual’s membership in a protected class.

F. Disparate Impact – Results when an employer has policies or practices that are neutral on their face but have the effect of disproportionately impacting an individual or group of individuals based upon their membership in a protected class, and the policy or practice is not job-related for the position and consistent with business necessity.

G. Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) – Is a body of laws that prohibit discrimination with regard to terms, conditions, or privileges of employment, including recruiting, hiring, assignment, compensation, benefits, promotions, demotions, transfers, discipline and termination, and any form of unlawful harassment based on protected class status.

H. Harassment

1. Hostile / Offensive Work Environment – A hostile work environment results when there is discriminatory conduct or behavior in the work place that is unwelcome and offensive to an individual or a group of individuals based on protected class status. An unlawful work environment may include the inappropriate use of unwelcome slurs, jokes, or other verbal or physical conduct. In order to be unlawful, the conduct must be (a) based upon a protected class status; (b) unreasonable; (c) adversely interfere with an individual’s ability to perform his or her job or advance in his or her career; and (d) create an uncomfortable, intimidating and offensive work environment. The law considers a hostile work environment to be one where communication or conduct is “severe” and “pervasive” enough that the employee(s) and a “reasonable person” would find it to be hostile and abusive. In most cases, a single isolated instance does not constitute a hostile work environment.

2. Sexual (Gender) Harassment – Sexual harassment can range from unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and/or other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature based on one or more of the following conditions: (a) submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual's employment; (b) submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for employment decisions affecting such individual; or (c) such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work performance or creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive work environment.

- I. National Origin Discrimination – Occurs when an individual suffers adverse employment treatment based upon the fact that the individual is from a particular country or part of the world, because of the person's ethnicity or accent, because they appear to be of a certain ethnic background, or because the individual is married to or associated with a person of a particular national origin.
- J. Protected Class – Is a term used in state and federal anti-discrimination law. The term describes characteristics or factors that cannot be targeted for discrimination and harassment. The following characteristics are considered "protected classes" under law and individuals cannot be discriminated against based on these characteristics: race, color, religion, gender, age, disability, genetic information, national origin, marital status, change in marital status, pregnancy or parenthood.
- K. Race – Race may be defined broadly as a group of persons related by a common descent or heredity. The entities that enforce racial discrimination laws include many other factors within the term "race," however, including physical characteristics associated with a particular race; illnesses associated with a race (such as sickle cell anemia); cultural characteristics associated with race, such as one's name, cultural dress, accent, or manner of speech; and an individual's relationship or association with an individual of a particular race.
- L. Religion – For purposes of religious discrimination, the term "religion" means all aspects of religious observance and practice, as well as belief. It also includes moral or ethical beliefs as to what is right and wrong that are sincerely held with the strength of traditional religious views.
- M. Retaliation or Reprisal – Taking any form of adverse employment action against an individual because he or she filed a complaint of discrimination or served as a witness, representative, investigator, or other participant in connection with a complaint of discrimination.

- N. Sex (Gender) Discrimination – Occurs when a male or female is treated differently because of his or her gender. Sex discrimination also includes sexual harassment.

VIII. COMPLAINTS OF DISCRIMINATION, HARASSMENT, OR RETALIATION:

The ARRC encourages reporting of all perceived incidents of discrimination, harassment, or retaliation. Individuals who believe they have been the victim of any form of discrimination, harassment, or retaliation may discuss their concerns with anyone in their chain of command, their Union representative (for union members), or the Director of Labor Relations, or they may file a Complaint of Discrimination.

The ARRC encourages individuals who believe they are being subjected to harassment to advise the offender(s) promptly that his, her, or their behavior is unwelcome and to request that it stop. This is not, however, a requirement prior to making a complaint, and it is not a substitute for the complaint procedure described above.

A. Complaint Process:

1. Complaints must be filed within 180 calendar days of the alleged incident(s) giving rise to the complaint. Complaints filed outside of this time frame are considered untimely and will not be accepted for review.
2. An individual or applicant for employment (complainant) who believes he or she is being harassed, discriminated or retaliated against may initiate the Complaint Process by filing a written and signed statement with the Director, Labor Relations (Director). The complaint must contain sufficient details to allow the Director to determine if the policy may have been violated. The complainant may be required to complete the ARRC Complaint of Discrimination form.
3. If a complainant needs assistance with the preparation and/or presentation of a discrimination complaint, the complainant may designate a co-worker or a union representative to assist him or her. An applicant for employment may have any non-lawyer individual assist him or her. The representative may participate in the complaint process along with the complainant.

4. Within five business days of receipt of a complaint, the Director will notify the applicable vice president (VP) of the complaint.
5. Complaints will be investigated impartially and promptly by the Director. The investigation will include interviews of the complainant, the respondent, and other individuals(s) who may have relevant knowledge. Investigations should be completed within 30 calendar days from receipt of a complaint unless legitimate circumstances necessitate a longer period. The Director will keep the complainant informed of any extra time needed to complete the investigation.
6. Upon conclusion of the investigation, the Director will issue a report of findings which shall include findings, determinations, and recommendations. The Director will meet with the respondent's VP to discuss the report. A copy will be sent to Office of the General Counsel and the Chief Financial Officer. If the Director finds that prohibited conduct has occurred and the conduct constitutes a violation of this Policy, the respondent's VP will take effective and appropriate corrective action. The VP is the responsible authority for determining corrective action but shall confer with the Director and/or the Office of the General Counsel. If the Director finds that prohibited conduct has not occurred, the complainant will be notified and the case will be closed.
7. Corrective action may include discipline up to and including suspension or termination. Corrective action shall be appropriate for the conduct and consistent with this policy. Discipline for non-represented employees must comply with Policy & Procedure 61-1, Corrective Actions and Disciplinary Actions for All ARRC Executive and Key Executive Employees. Discipline for represented employees must comply with the discipline process outlined in the applicable collective bargaining agreement.
8. Disciplinary action which may be taken as a result of an investigation is confidential and shall not be disclosed to another party except on a legitimate need to know basis.
9. Immediately following the meeting with the VP, the Director will issue a notice of findings to the complainant(s) and respondent(s). The notice will inform the parties that the investigation has concluded and a report has been submitted to the respondent's VP. The notice will identify the findings, e.g., the alleged conduct constituted a violation of the policy, the alleged conduct did not constitute a violation of the policy. Any party to the complaint may request a meeting with the Director and/or the VP regarding the notice.

10. No adverse action will be taken against an individual for exercising his or her rights under applicable law or for making a good faith complaint or assisting in an investigation under this policy. Any threats or attempts at retaliation must be reported to the Director or Human Resources Director immediately.
11. Complaints of discrimination or harassment and any information received during the course of an investigation and the resolution of an investigation will be kept strictly confidential. Availability of this information will only be to those individuals with a legitimate need to know, as determined by the ARRC, unless required by law to be divulged.
12. All individuals, including the complainant, who are involved in the investigation, are expected to use discretion in maintaining the confidentiality of information and documents generated or discussed during the investigation. This provision does not restrict an individual's ability to exercise his or her rights under applicable law.

B. Complaint Appeal:

1. If the complainant is not satisfied with the findings, the complainant may file appeal to the ARRC's President and CEO (CEO) within 15 calendar days of receipt of the notice of findings.
2. The appeal must be submitted in writing and specify the grounds on which the complainant is appealing the notice of findings.
3. The CEO will issue a written decision within 30 calendar days of receipt of the appeal. The CEO may attempt an informal resolution prior to issuing a written decision. The decision of the CEO shall be final.

Nothing in this policy shall prevent the complainant from pursuing formal legal remedies

Title VI Program 2025-2027

Appendix C

ARRC Limited English Proficiency Plan

Alaska Railroad Corporation
Limited English Proficiency Plan

Revised 2024

I. Introduction

This Limited English Proficiency (LEP) Plan addresses the Alaska Railroad Corporation's ("ARRC") responsibility for providing assistance to LEP persons in accordance with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which states that no person shall be subjected to discrimination on the basis of race, color, or national origin under any program or activity that receives federal financial assistance.

II. LEP Defined

LEP is a term used to describe individuals who do not speak English as their primary language and who have a limited ability to read, speak, write, or understand English.

III. Four Factor Analysis

In order to determine the reasonable steps that ARRC must take to ensure that LEP persons have meaningful access to ARRC services, activities, and programs, it is necessary to undertake an analysis based upon the United States Department of Transportation's Four Factor Test as follows:

1. The number or proportion of LEP persons eligible in the ARRC service area who may be served or likely to encounter an ARRC program, activity or service.

ARRC provides transportation services to local, national, and international passengers. It is ARRC's experience that limited and non-English speakers most often travel in tour groups, with a group leader who translates and communicates with the group.

ARRC has examined the most current U.S. Census report for major Alaska rail belt boroughs and continues to track demographic changes through other local resources, including the Alaska Department of Labor and Workforce Development Research & Analysis Section; University of Alaska Anchorage, Institute of Social and Economic Research; and the Anchorage School District (ASD), which is one of the most diverse districts in the country.

In 2023, the American Community Survey found that 103,234 (15%) of Alaskans spoke a language other than English. In the largest borough along the rail belt, the Municipality of Anchorage, 45,274 (16.9%) of residents indicated they spoke a language other than English.

The most common non-English languages spoken statewide were Yu’pik, Inupiaq, Korean, Spanish, Tagalog, Russian, and other Asian and Pacific Island languages.

In 2023, Anchorage School District students spoke 100 different languages at home. After English, the five most common home languages in schools were Spanish, Hmong, Samoan, Filipino, and Yu’pik.

Although the above statistics are instructive, a better indicator of the number of LEP individuals who actually come into contact with the ARRC’s most important activity—its public transportation service—may be derived from the on-board surveys conducted by the ARRC.

The survey results for 2022 show:

| Do you speak and understand English: | | |
|--------------------------------------|--------------------------|-------------------------------|
| Answer Options | Response Percent | Response Count |
| Well | 96.4% | 3,753 |
| Not Well | 0.5% | 20 |
| Not at All | 0.1% | 4 |
| If not, what language do you speak? | | 4 (Korean, Japanese, Russian) |
| | answered question | 3,777 |
| | skipped question | 116 |

The survey results for 2023 show:

| Do you speak and understand English: | | |
|--------------------------------------|--------------------------|-------------------|
| Answer Options | Response Percent | Response Count |
| Well | 96.2% | 3,802 |
| Not Well | 0.6% | 22 |
| Not at All | 0.2% | 6 |
| If not, what language do you speak? | | 6 (Thai, Chinese) |
| | answered question | 3,830 |
| | skipped question | 122 |

The survey results for 2024 to date show:

| Do you speak and understand English: | | |
|--------------------------------------|------------------|-------------------------------|
| Answer Options | Response Percent | Response Count |
| Well | 96.0% | 3,255 |
| Not Well | 1.0% | 33 |
| Not at All | 0.2% | 7 |
| If not, what language do you speak? | | 7 (French, Japanese, Spanish) |
| answered question | | 3,295 |
| skipped question | | 95 |

2. The frequency with which LEP individuals come in contact with an ARRC program, activity or service.

The most frequent way in which LEP persons come into contact with an ARRC service is through ARRC’s provision of public transportation, which is busiest from mid-May through mid-September of each year (peak). During that period, ARRC operates four regular rail services per day. During the less busy times of the year, ARRC operates passenger trains to Fairbanks on a weekly basis and the Hurricane Turn the first Thursday of each month. Information regarding LEP ridership 2022 to 2024 (to date) is set forth above.

LEP persons would most likely come into contact with ARRC’s other programs and activities through the public participation opportunities offered in connection with ARRC’s capital projects and other programs. From 2001 to date, the ARRC has held hundreds of public meetings on various issues, including capital projects, its Disadvantaged Business Enterprise Program, and environmental concerns.

ARRC’s public transportation schedules and brochures, as well as all notices for public meetings, contain information informing potential travelers and meeting attendees that special services are available by contacting ARRC. No individuals have ever contacted ARRC for assistance with English or any other language. When the need to speak with passengers in any language other than English has arisen, ARRC has been able to accommodate the passengers’ needs through smartphone/tablet language applications or ARRC staff members who speak languages other than English.

3. The nature and importance of the program, activity or service provided by ARRC to the LEP community.

In the Alaska Railroad Corporation Act, AS 42.40.010 et seq., the Alaska Legislature declared it is the policy of the State “to provide safe, economical, and efficient transportation to residents, businesses, visitors, and military installations in the state.” Further, “[t]he continued operation of the Alaska Railroad ... is considered an essential government function of the state.” AS 42.40.010. Thus, it is clear that the ARRC’s provision of public transportation to the people of the State of Alaska, both LEP and non-LEP alike, is of great importance.

ARRC provides public transportation on a fixed route rail system from Seward, Alaska to Fairbanks, Alaska and points in between. Some ARRC services, such as the Glacier Discovery and the Hurricane Turn, serve areas in which the railroad is the only mode of transportation for the residents. These areas are not populated by LEP persons, however. ARRC’s other programs and activities, such as its DBE program and capital projects programs, are of great importance to the communities along the Railbelt, and LEP persons may be impacted by those programs.

4. The resources available to ARRC and overall costs.

ARRC has assessed its available resources that could be used for LEP assistance. ARRC participated in and supported a local partnership to develop a centralized Language Interpreter Center, which was established in 2007 as a demonstration project funded in part by FTA. Interpreters have received formal training on appropriate interpretation and translation.

IV. LEP Plan Outline for Providing Meaningful Access

Having considered the Department of Transportation’s Four Factor test set forth above, the ARRC has developed the following steps for assisting LEP persons:

- 1. Perform a needs assessment and identify persons who may need language assistance. ARRC will:
 - Analyze the onboard and online passenger survey data to determine if translation and language assistance needs, if any, are being met;
 - Assess whether there are LEP persons in a project area who could be potentially impacted;
 - Review and analyze attendees for the public meetings and activities;
 - Monitor the ARRC’s ridership survey results to keep apprised of changes; and
 - Make “I Speak Cards” available to passenger reservations and follow-up with reservations and on-board staff to determine usage. The “I Speak Cards” will be available to any other segment of the ARRC when desired for public activities.

2. Provide for oral language assistance

- Oral language assistance will be provided to LEP persons free of charge upon request;
- ARRC will ensure that it advertises and posts that LEP assistance is available;
- ARRC will continue to collaborate with community partners to support the centralized Language Interpreter Center; and
- If ARRC is unable to provide assistance to LEP persons through the use of the Language Interpreter Center or ARRC staff, ARRC will utilize mobile translation apps or reputable online translation services, such as Languageline.com or a similar program.

3. Notify LEP customers of availability of language assistance services

- ARRC will advertise that LEP assistance is available at no cost to LEP persons; and
- Notice of the availability of LEP assistance will be published in schedules and general announcements and will be posted in public areas, e.g., depots and open houses.

4. Translation of vital documents in languages other than English

ARRC will monitor the demographics of its customers and determine whether the translation of documents may be necessary.

5. Train Staff

ARRC Staff will be trained on ARRC's obligation to provide assistance to LEP persons. The training will include:

- Understanding Title VI and the ARRC's LEP responsibilities;
- The languages in which the ARRC can provide assistance;
- The use of the "I Speak Cards";
- ARRC reservation system and translation abilities;
- Documentation of language assistance requests;
- How to coordinate obtaining language assistance; and
- How to handle a Title VI or LEP complaint.

6. Develop guidance for employees

ARRC will provide guidance to employees on the following:

- Identifying and assessing language needs;
- Coordinating oral language assistance; including vendor charges for services, and procedures for accessing and requesting translation assistance;

- Coordinating written translation of materials and publications (as needed);
- Notifying persons of language assistance services; and
- Monitoring access to language assistance.

V. Monitoring, Assessing and Updating the LEP Plan

ARRC will monitor and evaluate its provision of assistance to LEP persons to ensure that they have meaningful access to ARRC programs and activities. ARRC will monitor and assess:

- The current LEP composition of ARRC's service area;
- The current communication needs of LEP persons;
- Whether existing assistance meets LEP needs;
- Whether staff is knowledgeable about policies and procedures and how to implement them;
- Whether sources of and arrangements for assistance are still current and viable.
- How many LEP requests have been made and how each was addressed;
- Whether the needs of LEP individual(s) have been met;
- Whether there have been changes in primary languages spoken in the service area;
- The need, if any, for the translation of documents;
- Technology changes, staff changes and changes in available resources;
- The adequacy of existing services;
- Whether the ARRC has fulfilled the purpose of the LEP Plan; and
- Whether any complaints have been received.

In order to monitor and assess ARRC's provision of assistance to LEP persons, ARRC will maintain records of the following:

- Race of LEP persons requesting assistance (voluntary);
- Ethnicity of LEP person requesting assistance (voluntary);
- Number of LEP persons in attendance at public meetings;
- Primary language of the population in a given project area;
- Number of LEP persons, by language group, who have received language services from ARRC.

VI. Dissemination of the ARRC LEP Plan

The LEP Plan is included as part the ARRCs Title VI Plan and is posted on the ARRC website at www.alaskarailroad.com. The notice of rights is posted on the internet, in ARRC facilities and railcars, and will be made available upon request from:

Alaska Railroad Program of Projects Public Involvement Policy & Procedures

The Alaska Railroad Corporation

The Alaska Railroad Corporation (ARRC) is a state-owned corporation, does not receive state funding to operate, and is the only full service U.S. railroad offering both freight and passenger service. From tidewater at Whittier and Seward to the heart of Interior Alaska, the Railroad covers more than 500 miles. Initially owned by the federal government, the Alaska Railroad has been providing service to Alaskans since 1923 and was purchased by the State of Alaska in 1985.

Mission and Vision

Mission: “Through excellent customer service and sound business management practices, provide safe, efficient and economical transportation and real estate services that support and grow economic development opportunities for the State of Alaska.”

Vision: “The Alaska Railroad Corporation provides a safe, reliable, flexible railroad with which the communities and rail customers can better partner to meet today’s requirements, while planning confidently for tomorrow.”

Program of Projects

To fulfill its mission and vision, the Alaska Railroad works with state and local agencies and the public to implement a system-wide Program of Projects (POP). The Alaska Railroad’s POP — made possible through funding from various federal agencies along with internal funding — greatly enhances the Railroad’s service to Alaska communities and makes the Railroad’s operation more safe and efficient. Based in part on strategic planning efforts, the Alaska Railroad’s POP includes, but is not limited to, investments in rail, ties, ballast, depots, passenger services, technology and equipment. ARRC’s POP includes public involvement efforts that meet and often exceed regulatory and agency requirements.

Purpose of the Public Involvement Plan

As a state-owned corporation that operates in close proximity to many Alaska communities, and as a recipient of federal financial assistance, ARRC desires widespread public input into and support for its POP and all of its other services, programs, and activities that require public involvement.

An effective public involvement process provides for an open exchange of information and ideas between the public and transportation decision-makers. This plan is designed to create two-way communication between ARRC and targeted audiences. ARRC’s objectives are to: educate the public about the need for and benefits of its POP and other programs and incorporate the public’s views and concerns in the decision-making process.

Through the communication process, the Railroad seeks to build goodwill with the communities and businesses it serves while strengthening its role as an integral part of Alaska's transportation network. The desired result is meaningful public input and widespread support for the POP and individual projects, creating an atmosphere in which the Railroad can thrive economically and better meet its public mission.

Plan Overall Goal

Develop and strengthen two-way communication that creates awareness of the Alaska Railroad's Program of Projects and other activities requiring public involvement, and allows for input from targeted audiences resulting in a mutually agreeable program.

Program Objectives

Objectives of two-way communication include:

- Inform, educate, and enhance community(s) awareness about projects
- Facilitate public involvement through project phases
- Solicit input from target groups
- Monitor community concerns on a regular basis and adjust strategies accordingly
- Gain consensus
- Build relationships and meet requirements that will allow the Railroad to move through the requisite approval processes smoothly and on time
- Build relationships that will facilitate regulatory approval and promote continued funding
- Foster an informed and involved public that is satisfied with the transportation solution

Guiding Principles

There are certain guiding principles that set the tone for a successful public involvement program for publicly funded transportation projects. These principles address the public's need to have views and concerns heard and addressed. In addition, these principles assist the Railroad in gaining public understanding and acceptance, while avoiding an autocratic or adversarial role. The Alaska Railroad's guiding principles are:

- All public input is important to the ARRC and is sought without regard to race, color, national origin, proficiency with the English language, or any other status protected by law.
- Community concerns deserve respect.
- Gaining public support requires projects that deserve support and fulfill ARRC's mission.
- Dialogue and discussion with neighbors should start at project inception and should continue through project completion.
- Focus on reaching decisions rather than simply conducting participation activities.

Target Audiences

The Railroad's public involvement plan is directed toward several target audiences or stakeholders who have specific interests in, or may be affected by, ARRC's proposed program of projects. While these audiences will sometimes overlap, there is seldom a homogenous mixture that can be labeled "the general public." Therefore, ARRC tailors its communication plan to each audience and for each project. ARRC's key audiences include, but are not limited to:

- Alaska media
- ARRC Board of Directors
- ARRC employees
- ARRC freight customers
- ARRC tenants (i.e., those with leases and/or permits for use of ARRC land)
- ARRC transportation partners – commercial ground transportation (bus, shuttle, motorcoach, taxi), recreation providers, contract railcar services, local public bus systems, municipal airports, transportation industry associations, individual airlines, etc.
- Community/business/education/environmental groups – community councils, chambers of commerce, Anchorage and Fairbanks centers for the environment, economic development organizations, civic organizations, etc.
- Community residents – Fairbanks, North Pole, Nenana, Palmer, Wasilla, Birchwood, Eagle River, Chugiak, Anchorage, Girdwood, Whittier, Seward, Talkeetna, etc., including specifically those residents making up the minority and low income populations of these communities
- Government officials – congressional delegation, governor, state legislators, state commissioners, borough and city officials, assembly members, planning and zoning commissions, etc.
- Key opinion leaders – elected officials, tribal leaders, other minority community leaders, local activists, media representatives, boards and commissions
- Regulatory and funding agencies – FRA, FHWA, FTA, EPA, USF&W, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, ADOT/PF, ADEC, ADF&G, etc.
- Visitor industry – Industry organizations, Alaska Dept. of Natural Resources, railbelt convention and visitors bureaus, hotels, recreation and tour businesses, other visitor destinations and facilities.

Strategies

Strategies address the interests and issues of the target audiences and convey the collective benefits resulting from the POP or individual projects. Listed below are many of the key messages/actions ARRC uses in seeking approval, input and involvement from the target audiences.

- Promote the Railroad as a good neighbor

- Demonstrate willingness to partner and plan with state and local agencies and the public in transportation project decisions
- Demonstrate willingness to listen to community input
- Demonstrate ARRC's commitment to safety and the environment
- Position ARRC as a major player in the state's transportation network
- Establish ARRC as a partner in planning for the state's future and financial well-being
- Ensure that none of the ARRC's projects, programs or other activities result in discrimination on the basis of race, color, or national origin
- Showcase benefits – rail as a safe and environmentally friendly mode of public transportation, protection and enhancement of the environment, energy conservation, air quality advantages and improved quality of life
- Explain the economic and service benefits the State of Alaska, its visitors and residents will receive from proposed projects
- Describe new jobs that will result from newly created services
- Assure stakeholders that proposed services are sustainable and benefit local communities, businesses, the state and the Railroad
- Position new services as complementary to local communities' economic development efforts
- Demonstrate the increased safety and security of the transportation system for motorized and non-motorized users
- Promote the increased accessibility and mobility options available and demonstrate the integration and connectivity of the transportation system, across and between modes, for people and freight.
- Emphasize the preservation and improvement of the existing transportation system
- Promote improved system management, operation and communication
- Demonstrate rail's support role in the economic vitality of the railbelt by enabling global competitiveness, productivity and efficiency

Public Involvement Techniques

There are numerous public involvement techniques to employ in crafting an effective public involvement program. Some target groups; others are more focused on individuals. The ARRC uses a variety of techniques aimed at diverse audiences to engage the public and gain input. Following are many public involvement techniques employed by ARRC as is appropriate and meaningful.

- Public Meetings/Hearings:
Public meetings present information to the public and obtain informal input from community residents. They are tailored to specific issues or community groups and may be informal or formal.

A public hearing is more formal than a public meeting. Held prior to a decision point, a public hearing gathers community comments and positions from all interested parties for public record and input into decisions. Public hearings are required by the federal government for many transportation projects and all comments must be documented. Public meetings are optional events and thus tailored to the needs of the organization and the targeted audience.

- Town Forums/Open Houses/Informal “Walk-In” Meetings:
A town forum or open house is an informal setting in which people get information about a plan or project. They typically have no formal agenda. Unlike a public meeting, no formal discussions and presentations take place and there are no audience seats. Information is presented buffet-style and materials are distributed throughout the room. Information is also available to take home. These meetings are effective when a project or plan is first introduced to build community interest and awareness. Such meetings often appeal to people who are reluctant to speak at public meetings.

During years of robust capital improvement activity, ARRC will conduct open house style meetings in key population hubs along the railroad route to share and gather information on project plans. During years of moderate capital investment, ARRC will organize open house events for individual projects as warranted by public interest, impacts and agency requirements. ARRC also participates in regional transportation open house events hosted by municipal or state agencies (Mat-Su Valley, Anchorage, Fairbanks).

- ARRC Web Site – www.alaskarailroad.com:
Project information is provided on ARRC’s website and can be accessed round-the-clock. Website visitors are encouraged to provide their opinions and suggestions on any or all ARRC projects via a direct “public comment” e-mail address. The project links contain project information, meeting announcements and project photos/graphics.
- Direct Public Comment Tools
Using a dedicated email address, public_comment@akrr.com, the public can submit comments, questions, opinions and suggestions via the internet. Phone numbers for corporate and External Affairs officials are publicized, allowing the public to voice opinions and concerns verbally. ARRC officials deliver timely responses.
- Public Information Materials:
Materials are produced to provide information about a project when it is in the planning stage or is underway. Such materials summarize details in straightforward non-technical language and often include explanatory graphics. Public information materials can be a significant value in helping people to decide to participate or to seek more information. Materials used by ARRC include but are not limited to: fact sheets, frequently asked questions and answers, displays and models, photographs and drawings, posters, maps, report summaries, advertising and public notices, direct mailers pieces, newsletters, opinion editorials, project briefing booklets, etc. The ARRC’s public information materials include a statement that the materials may be made available in a language other than English if requested.

- Report to State:
The annual ARRC Report to State summarizes ARRC’s 5-year capital improvement plan. It is updated by December 1 each year and distributed to state officials (Governor, Administration and Legislature) and posted on the ARRC web site for public access.
- Speakers Bureau:
ARRC pursues and accepts speaking engagements to railbelt community and business groups. Speaking opportunities expand community participation while allowing ARRC to respond to public concerns and misinformation. Presentations can be tailored to address specific concerns and open a channel to distribute other information such as brochures, etc. Groups ARRC speaks to regularly include but are not limited to: chambers of commerce and other business organizations, rotaries and other civic organizations, schools, visitor organizations, special interest groups, community councils.
- Mailing Lists:
A mailing list is a collection of names of those affected by or interested in the Alaska Railroad, or in a specific project, program or plan. Lists include organizations, residents, media, elected officials, abutters, agency personnel, interest groups and others. Lists include addresses but may also include telephone and fax numbers or, as well as e-mail addresses for electronic communication. ARRC has enlisted electronic mailing services (such as MailChimp) to build self-subscribing lists that are more effective in communicating with various audiences quickly.

Mailing lists are a way to reach interested parties with announcements of upcoming events, meeting invitations, newsletters, summary reports and other information. Mailing lists allow an organization to provide updated information quickly to targeted groups. Lists can also assist in conducting surveys and other forms of information gathering.

The ARRC External Affairs Department maintains a mailing list of civic, business and elected leaders statewide that may be used for and project mailings as needed. Additional lists are compiled on a project needs basis.
- Direct Mailings:
Direct mailings are used to provide project information and/or invite the public to special project meetings. Direct mailings are typically more targeted toward particular groups, industries, communities, special interests, etc.
- Advertisements and Public Notices:
Advertisements and public notices are published in appropriate media to announce upcoming project meetings and board meetings, availability of project information, availability of request for proposals and contract bids, and to provide the public with project updates, as warranted.
- Media Relations:
Media relations involve disseminating information to media about a project or plan to assist with informing the public. ARRC disseminates information through editorial board meetings, news releases, fact sheets, opinion editorials, background papers, and visual aids such as charts, diagrams, photos and drawings. Briefing reporters and editorial boards with in-depth background helps foster objective reporting. Effective media strategies deliver a uniform message to prevent the spread of misinformation. Many people rely on the media for information and to help form opinions. Media strategies should be developed early and sustained over time. Where appropriate, the ARRC considers publication of information through non-traditional media, such as those provided in a language other than English.

- Community Council Meetings:
When appropriate, ARRC attends and provides project updates at community councils within project zones.
- ARRC Board Meetings:
ARRC board meetings are held on a quarterly basis (sometimes more often), are open to the public, and include the opportunity for public comment. ARRC project presentations and updates are discussed at meetings. Public notice announcements are placed on the State of Alaska’s Online Public Notices and ARRC’s websites at least five days prior to meetings. Where appropriate, the ARRC considers publication of information through non-traditional publications, such as those provided in a language other than English.
- Local and State Transportation Planning Process:
See section “How ARRC Interfaces with Local and State Transportation Planning Processes.”
- Surveys:
Public opinion surveys assess widespread public opinion. An agency administers a survey to a sample group of people via a written questionnaire or through interviews in person, by phone, or by electronic media. The sample is considered representative of a larger group. Survey results show public positions or reactions to agency actions and gather information for use in the process. They are useful for learning about community perceptions and preferences and to test whether opinions are changing. Information gained through surveys can enhance an agency’s understanding of public concerns and also test the effectiveness of its public involvement process. Public opinion surveys are administered without regard to race, color, national origin or other discriminatory factors. As warranted, ARRC conducts surveys ranging from a few select questions in a semi-annual regional poll, to a comprehensive project/program-specific questionnaire.
- Community Briefings and Discussion Groups:
ARRC Executives and External Affairs officials meet periodically with railbelt mayors, Chamber of Commerce officials, and other community leaders to provide briefings about railroad programs and activities, including capital improvements in respective regions. These forums offer two-way communication between ARRC representatives and community civic and business leaders.
- Site Visits, Tours and Train Trips:
Site visits are trips taken by community residents, officials, agencies, the media or consultants to project areas to showcase the physical environment of a proposal and/or ongoing activity. These excursions give participants a common frame of reference. Site visits also can improve media coverage and reporting accuracy. ARRC participates in, or organizes, such trips as interest and issues warrant.

- Annual Corporate Report:
ARRC publishes an annual report that details the financial and operational status of the railroad. Information on capital projects is included. The annual report is distributed electronically to all employees, the media, lawmakers and key officials in the administration, and others as requested. The annual report is also available for review on the ARRC web site.
- Briefings:
Briefings are similar to key person interviews but are usually information-gathering meetings held with a community group or leader. Some briefings are one-on-one but can also involve key groups. Briefings are used for one-way or two-way communication. They provide immediate opportunities for focused communication and help break through barriers to full public participation. They also can be useful in repairing damage or building trust and credibility. Briefings are provided without regard to race, color, or national origin or other discriminatory factors.
- Citizen Advisory Committees / Community Discussion Groups:
Typically used for individual projects, a citizen advisory committee (CAC) is a representative group of stakeholders that meets regularly to discuss issues of common concern. CACs allow interaction between local residents and the sponsoring agency. A CAC is a forum for hearing peoples' ideas and molds participants into a working group. People participate by examining and discussing issues with others. ARRC established Community Discussion Groups (CDG) to provide a dialog forum with an ongoing purpose. Community Discussion Groups have been established in Seward and Fairbanks, allowing railroad officials and interested community members a quarterly opportunity to discuss concerns and issues. Participation in both the CAC and CDG forums is offered without regard to race, color, or national origin or other discriminatory factors.
- Focus Groups:
Typically used for individual projects, focus groups are small group discussions with professional leadership. A group of individuals convene to discuss and give opinions on a single topic, providing a tool to gauge public opinion and a forum to identify concerns, needs, wants and expectations. They can inform sponsors of the attitudes and values that people hold and why and can help drive development of policies, programs, and services and the allocation of resources. Focus groups are convened without regard to race, color, national origin or other discriminatory factors.
- Key Person Interviews:
A key person interview is a one-on-one talk about a specific topic or issue with an individual recognized or designated as a community leader. The main purpose of the interview is to gain information. These interviews help identify issues, concerns, and desired outcomes. They should be scheduled early in the process and just before decision-making. Key person interviews help target potential participants in the public process and elicit ideas for structuring a public involvement program. Key person interviews are held without regard to race, color, or national origin.

How Public Comment Influences Project Decision-Making

A. External Affairs Department (or Contractor)

Depending on the nature of the public input. Members of ARRC's External Affairs Department (or Contractor) gathers or receives public comment from a number of forums and processes them accordingly:

recommendations, direct further external or internal research if necessary, direct organization of additional public hearings if necessary, communicate with community/political/tribal leaders if appropriate, and:

- Reject project modification and respond publicly if warranted, or provide an explanation to External Affairs who will respond to the commenting public.
- Modify project execution if it is within political, fiscal and operational authority.
- Elevate the public input to the ARRC Board of Directors and provide recommendations on various ways to address the concern, suggestion or complaint.

F. Board of Directors

- Reject project modification and direct the President/CEO to respond publicly if warranted, or provide an explanation to External Affairs who will respond to the commenting public.
- Modify or halt project execution in the best interests of the public, and within the corporation's operational, contractual and fiscal resource limitations.

How ARRC Interfaces with State / Local Transportation Planning Processes

ARRC participates in Metropolitan Planning Organization (MPO) meetings and ARRC projects appear in MPO and statewide planning documents as appropriate. ARRC's projects are identified in municipal Transportation Improvement Plan (TIP) and the Statewide Transportation Improvement Plan (STIP).

- ARRC provides project proposals to the Anchorage MPO – the Anchorage Metropolitan Area Transportation Study (AMATS) - for inclusion in the city's Long Range Transportation Plan (LRTP) and Transportation Improvement Plan (TIP).
- ARRC projects falling outside the Anchorage MPO are placed into Alaska's Statewide Transportation Improvement Plan (STIP) in coordination with the Department of Transportation and Public Facilities statewide planning process.
- ARRC works with the State Department of Transportation and Public Facilities (DOT&PF) in developing projects associated with national highways within MPO jurisdiction.
- ARRC has a defined role with the Anchorage Area and Fairbanks Area MPOs to better coordinate projects. ARRC is represented on the Anchorage Metropolitan Area Transportation Study (AMATS) and Fairbanks Metropolitan Area Transportation System (FMATS) Technical Advisory Committees (TAC).
- When developing a proposed capital project or service change, the Alaska Railroad engages land, community and/or transportation planning agencies within affected local railbelt governments to ensure local concerns, challenges and opportunities are considered.

How ARRC Considers Tribal / Native Corporation and Other Minority Impacts

ARRC will consult and collaborate with Alaska tribal and Alaska Native Corporation (ANC) entities when a new capital project may impact tribal/ANC resources. This is accomplished by:

- Research to identify tribes or Native corporation assets that lie within a proposed project area.
- Initiate contact with tribal / ANC leadership to invite consultation, with the purpose to identify resources of cultural, spiritual, historical, or environmental significance, and potential impacts on those resources.
- Incorporate measures for avoiding, minimizing or mitigating impacts to tribal/ANC resources, through collaboration with tribal/ANC leadership.
- Include tribal/ANC stakeholders in other public involvement activities.
- Similar strategies, modified to reach the target audience, are employed when an ARRC project or other activity may impact any other minority or low income population.

Fare and Major Service Changes

ARRC has established a public involvement process for all fare increases and major service changes. ARRC considers a major service reduction to be the elimination of a scheduled train service or a three-hour departure change to a scheduled train service. Fare increases and major service changes trigger the following public involvement process:

- The ARRC Marketing & Customer Service Department decides passenger fare rates and any service changes during the summer of the year prior to the year of operations.
- Ad notices will be published annually after rates/services are decided. In years where no rate change or service change is anticipated, the notices will be used to inform the public of this fact. In years with a proposed rate increase or service change, ads will state the proposed fare or service change, invite comment and offer an opportunity for a public hearing. The ARRC will accept public comment and requests for public hearing for forty-five (45) days from the date of the notice.
- Public notice advertisements will be published in newspapers of general circulation in Anchorage, Fairbanks and Seward. Proposed fare increases or service changes will also be published on the Alaska Railroad's website.

ARRC's statutory definition and requirements: Pursuant to enabling legislation, the Alaska Railroad Corporation Act, Alaska Statutes 42.40.010, et seq., ARRC makes service changes as follows:

- Pursuant to AS 42.40.120(b)(8), major changes in ARRC service must be approved by the ARRC Board of Directors. In accordance with ARRC Board Rule No. 1, notice of such a Board meeting agenda item would appear on ARRC's and the State of Alaska's Online

Public Notices websites no less than five days prior to the Board meeting at which changes would be discussed. There is full opportunity for public participation in ARRC Board meetings.

- If the ARRC plans a major expansion, reduction, or diversification from the service that it offered in 1985 (the time of transfer from Federal ownership to State ownership), the ARRC is required by AS 42.40.285 to report such plans and the underlying reason in detail to the Alaska Legislature and the governor in advance.
- If the ARRC plans to extend its rail lines (other than spurs, side tracks, etc.), it is required by AS 42.42.285 to obtain prior legislative approval.

Communication Tools

The following resources are used to assist in implementing public involvement techniques:

- Alaska Directory of State Officials – a comprehensive directory including contact information for the state governor, state legislators, commissioners and their agency staff
- Alaska Municipal Officials Directory – a comprehensive directory of municipal, borough and city officials
- Chamber of Commerce Membership Directories – state and railbelt communities.
- Speaker's Guide – includes various lists of community groups and civic organizations along with their meeting times and locations; these are useful in preparing briefings and for scheduling speakers.
- Federation of Community Council and Mat-Su Community Council website resources.
- Word of Mouth – Occasionally, traditional resources are inadequate to provide the ARRC with the most reliable or relevant method of reaching its target audience, such as when the audience includes minority, low income, or Limited English Proficiency communities. In these situations, the most appropriate method of reaching the intended audience may be through individual contact with community members themselves.

Public Process Requirements

There are many federal statutes and regulations derived in part from the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) and largely from federal surface transportation legislation. Transportation laws include the Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act (ISTEA, 1991) and its successors, the Transportation Equity Act for the 21st Century (TEA-21, 1998); the Safe, Accountable, Flexible, Efficient Transportation Equity Act: A Legacy for Users (SAFETEA-LU, 2005); Moving Ahead for Progress in the 21st Century Act (MAP-21, 2012); and Fixing America's Surface Transportation Act (FAST Act, 2015).

These laws and regulations provide guidelines for locally developed public involvement processes and procedures. Flexibility is available in developing specific public involvement programs allowing for different situations and specialized approaches, including those applicable to Alaska Railroad projects subject to the federal NEPA process:

Federal Requirements - Three classes of action prescribe the level of documentation required in the NEPA process.

1. Categorical Exclusions and Documented Categorical Exclusions
2. Environmental Assessments
3. Environmental Impact Statements

Evaluation and Program Adjustment

No public involvement work is complete without evaluating the success of the efforts and, if necessary, adjusting the program to increase the success rate. The ARRC uses the following public involvement techniques to gauge the effectiveness of its public involvement.

- Opinion surveys – Public opinion surveys assess widespread public opinion. They can be used to gauge public positions or reactions to actions already taken. Surveys can be used to identify public preferences or changes in opinion. Public opinion surveys can be taken at any time during a process, assisting in continuously gauging as program adjustments are made.
- One-on-one interviews and meetings
- Briefings with agency staff and government officials in project zones
- ARRC Board evaluation of projects – Board members are an extension of the communities and industries they represent. Their guidance and insight on projects is another method of determining public reaction, input and opposition or support for projects.

ARRC's Project Planning Process

The ARRC's project planning process begins with the development of a "project needs" list involving all ARRC departments, with consideration to partners, customers and community inputs. ARRC develops a POP and proposes it to the public for comment via STIP and municipal TIP vehicles.

The ARRC allocates formula funds for necessary infrastructure improvements in its POP. It also obligates funding for other projects, more appropriately identified as major improvements. These projects are funded through agencies including the Federal Transit Administration and Federal Railroad Administration and embody facilities, track realignments and rolling stock acquisitions.

ARRC is responsible for generating its own federal matching funds and is financially responsible for the maintenance and operations of its projects.

Summary

Developing an effective public involvement program is a strategic effort that requires careful analysis and understanding of the audiences the plan is directed to and the messages that are delivered. Using this manual as a guide should result in a systematic and consistent approach that is mutually beneficial to the Alaska Railroad and publics it serves.

The Alaska Railroad will be involved in an ongoing capital planning and construction phase for many years to come. Through a comprehensive public involvement plan, the ARRC can look forward to public support for improving the Alaska Railroad to better meet the needs of Alaskans, its visitors and its customers.
